"The Prince of Tonight," the gorgeous musical fantasy, coming to the Grand, January 19th. As a great spectacular production it outshines everything that has been attempted by a management in stage settings. The iridescent glories of the Delftwood forest in the land of the Moon, and the glittering whirl of a blue and silver chorus is not only the climax of artistic efforts in the show itself, but the last word in contemporaneous extravaganzas.

PIES THAT ALL WILL LIKE

Recipes Have Had the Sanction of Generations of Presiding Geniuses of the Kitchen.

Cherry Pie.—Line the pieplate with good crust, fill half full with stoned ripened cherries; put a teaspoon of flour with a cup of sugar and sift; sprinkle this over cherries; dot over a few bits of butter. Now fill the crust full to the top with more cherries. Cover with upper crust and bake.

Currant Pie.—One cup of mashed currants, one of sugar, two tablespoons of water, one of flour, beaten with the yolks of two eggs. Fill crust, bake. Frost the top with the beaten whites of the two eggs and two tablespoons of powdered sugar. Brown lightly in oven.

Cream Pie.—Pour a pint of cream over one and a half cups of sugar. Let it stand until the whites of three eggs have been beaten to a stiff froth. Add to this the cream and sugar and beat up well; grate a little nutmeg over the mixture and bake without an upper crust. A heaping teaspoon of sifted flour sifted with the sugar will make a firmer pie if liked.

Custard Pie.—Beat up the yolks of three eggs to a cream. Stir and sift together a tablespoon of flour and three tablespoons of sugar; add this to the beaten yolks with a pinch of salt, a teaspoon of vanilla and a little grated nutmeg; next the well beaten whites of the eggs and then a pint of scalded milk (not boiled) which has been cooled. Mix this in by degrees and turn all into a deep pieplate lined with puff and bake from 25 to 30 minutes.

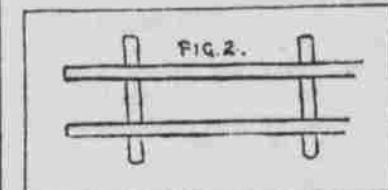

FOR THE COOKING UTENSILS

Extra Shelves, According to One Housewife, Has Solved a Troublesome Problem for Her.

One usually has so many pans and cooking utensils that convenient storing becomes a problem. They are placed one inside of the other and when you want a certain pan it is generally at the bottom. After I had been frequently annoyed in this way I decided upon the plan illustrated. To the underside of each shelf I nailed blocks three inches wide and one inch thick, and to them I fastened light strips. This made an additional shallow shelf for each deep shelf. In the picture "C" is the block, "S" the strips. It is better to use strips than a solid board because the latter would hold this, which would be difficult to remove from so narrow a space.—Exchange.

Snow Pudding.

This is fine, easy to make and not expensive: Dissolve two tablespoons of cornstarch in a little water, add one pint of boiling water and cook five minutes, remove from fire, add the beaten whites of two eggs and beat until smooth; add a little salt, sugar and vanilla.

Same—Scald one-half pint of milk, add three tablespoons of sugar, then the beaten yolks of the two eggs, and cook a few minutes, add a little salt, remove from fire, add one-half teaspoon of vanilla. I know you will like this, especially if in a hurry. I put into individual molds and set on ice.

Prune and Date Pie.

Soak prunes over night and remove stones. To two cups of prunes add one-half cup dates cut in tiny pieces, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, three tablespoons sugar and the prune juice. Dredge with flour, dot with bits of butter, put on upper crust and bake.

Spinach Cakes.

The thinnest possible pancakes are baked and filled with the ready cooked spinach. They must be rolled and put in layers in a buttered pudding dish and a good quantity of sour cream poured over them. They are then baked in the oven for 20 minutes and served immediately.

Cleaning Collars.

When the coat collar becomes soiled it may be cleaned in this manner: Dissolve one part salt in four parts alcohol.

Apply this mixture with a sponge and rub well.

Raw Sliced Cucumbers.

Pare and lay them in ice water one hour, then slice and season to taste with vinegar, pepper and salt. Never omit soaking in ice water.

FAILED TO CARRY OFF DOG

But Eagle Likely Would Have Conquered If Farmer Had Not Taken Part of Pet.

From Shidzuoka comes a graphic account of a bloody combat between an eagle and a dog. A few days ago, at about 8 a. m., while one Ano was engaged in farming at the foot of a hill called Awagatabe in a suburb of Shidzuoka, he saw his favorite dog as mper away in unusual excitement. The farmer, struck with curiosity, followed in the direction in which the dog ran and was amazed to see the animal jumping about and barking furiously in a thicket near the bottom of a large pine tree.

On closer scrutiny he found the dog was waging a savage battle with a large eagle nearly five feet in height. The bird would descend upon the dog and attack it with its powerful talons, while the dog would spring away alertly, trying to bite its enemy. The exciting combat continued for some time, but at last threatened to end in the defeat of the dog.

The farmer fetched a hatchet and rushed to the succor of his pet, raining upon the eagle repeated blows. The dog, encouraged by this help, attacked its antagonist with redoubled vigor and after a while the eagle fell to the ground quite exhausted and covered with blood. Ano took the captive home in triumph and has since been keeping it in his house.

The eagle proved to be of enormous size and is said to be attracting great curiosity among the villagers.—Japan Advertiser.

Matters of the Memory.

Savages have good memories. They rarely make a false or erroneous motion. They have mastered their surroundings and there are no new things to distract their attention. They keep their memory cells uncrowded. The civilized man is at a great disadvantage. He sees some new thing every hour. His brain cells are a veritable, dancing, whirling, seething nest of memories. It is not any great wonder that he cannot recall the one he needs just when he needs it.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help, Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer.

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm."

There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles.
